Are people influenced by example? The answer is "Yes", but, unfortunately, they respond to "bad" example more easily than to "good" example. However, we should not be too pessimistic that "good" example is without its impact. Today's readings all touch on this need to be exemplars; to be "lights in the darkness".

Isaiah 58: 7-10: Isaiah leaves his readers in no doubt that their religious sense of God's presence must be expressed in practical terms if it is to be fruitful and serve the purpose of bringing people to God.

Corinthians 2: 1-5: In his efforts to convert the Corinthians, Paul not only relied on word, but held before them the practical example of his own commitment.

Matthew 5: 13-16: Here we have yet another example of Christ's practical presentation of Christian discipleship. We all know how insipid food is without salt; Christ is saying Christian discipleship that consists only in lip service without practice is equally insipid.

You are the light of the world.
A city built on a hill cannot be hidden.

It is not reserved solely for the final moment of life, but rather to bring spiritual strength, peace, and sometimes physical healing.

THE RIGHT OF ACCEPTANCE

Please pray for Leah and Zaniar who this Sunday will be received into the order of catechumens. The Rite of Acceptance into the Order of Catechumens is the first public, liturgical "threshold rite" in the Roman Catholic Church's Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA), marking the transition from inquirer to catechumen. Held during Sunday Mass, it involves the formal declaration of faith, the signing of the cross on the senses, and a welcome by the community.

LITURGY MEETING: Monday 9th February at 7pm in the Presbytery
